

What lens are you bringing to the issue of COVID and GBV?

In 1-2 words, which groups are being left out of GBV-related policies and services during Covid-19?

In 2-3 words, how are you or your organization responding to GBV during Covid-19?

In a few words, what resources do you or your organization most need to respond to GBV, especially domestic violence, during Covid-19?

Fund

Info on GBV Actors

flexible funding

Flexible funding

Flexible funding

Flexible Funding,

Flexible funding

funding

Best practices, government partnership

In a few words, what resources do you or your organization most need to respond to GBV, especially domestic violence, during Covid-19?

Community empowerment

flexible funding

Flexible funding

Flexible funding

Flexible funding to support GBV focused initiatives government support

Support to update referral pathways; funding for GBV; support for partner organizations

Flexible funding

Flexible funding

In a few words, what resources do you or your organization most need to respond to GBV, especially domestic violence, during Covid-19?

Funding, safe spaces or homes to go to, legal services fees, psychosocial support

Relocating existing resources

Need for flexible funding, transportation for front-line workers, better digital infrastructure and support setting up remote resources

Short-term flexible funding. More integrated programming

Funding for partners

flexible funding, updated referral pathways, inclusion of OPDs in GBV coordination mechanisms

flexible funding,

Data from field when typical data collection is not possible, and the target group is outside of internet coverage short-term flexible funding, best practices on referral system,

In a few words, what resources do you or your organization most need to respond to GBV, especially domestic violence, during Covid-19?

government input

funds, technical support and timely family planning commodities supply chain

Resources, research, political organising.

Best practices on data collection when you can't be face to face

Clients being willing to pivot funding and work plans to address the challenges.

Strong stakeholder relations, including with the police

In a few words, how do we help ensure that GBV response and prevention strategies are more resilient in the future?

improved accessibility

Long term funding and foundational integration

Donors need to be more adaptive to crises leading to increased GBV rates

GBV integration into standard health care

Ensure multi stakeholder approaches

Public Private partnership, information dissemination adaptable policies

Ensuring an institutional or government buy in.

Multi-stakeholder engagement and empowering women

In a few words, how do we help ensure that GBV response and prevention strategies are more resilient in the future?

Long term strategies and sustainable role of women mechanisms

Integrate across all programs so there's more general awareness and activism to prevent GBV

Not a one size fits all. Understand cultural context- make sure resources are accessible everywhere, particularly in rural areas.

strengthen local CSOs

Ask the victim/survivors what they need/ want to prevent GBV and support them the most

Thinking and working politically

Mainstream/ integrate it into all service provisions classifying GBV service as an essential services

To strengthen Gender Disaggregated Data

In a few words, how do we help ensure that GBV response and prevention strategies are more resilient in the future?

robust network of women rights' organizations / operationalizing the triple nexus

Donors should provide long term funding: local private sector funding is needed for sustainability

Updated policies with various stakeholders involved

Build network of resourceful community activists

The GBV prevention and response field needs to connect with social movements.

Break down patriarchal systems that sustain GBV

Long term commitment from relevant actors to prioritize issues related to GBV empower local institutions in a systemic way to be gender responsive community empowerment and develop referral system at community level that enable community to respond first; policy on sexual abuse

In a few words, how do we help ensure that GBV response and prevention strategies are more resilient in the future?

By building community resiliency and ownership of services

Long term funding and government funding increase state budget for GBV response

Our actions remain adoptable and adjustable

Sustainable funding; gender transformative programming

Integrated government response and support. Flexible funding.

