The Asia Foundation

A MESSAGE OF GRATITUDE

The Asia Foundation launched an ambitious $50M Change Starts Here campaign in 2016 to support the Foundation's life-enhancing programs and sustain the impact of our work long into the future. Thanks to the extraordinary support of the Foundation's donors and Trustees, we recently surpassed the $50M fundraising goal a year ahead of schedule. The successful campaign has made The Asia Foundation stronger, more resilient and responsive in meeting the evolving challenges across Asia.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR GENEROUS SUPPORT

Thank you for powering The Asia Foundation's mission to improve lives and expand opportunities. Your investment has created opportunities for young people in remote and turbulent places; empowered women and girls to secure equal education and brighter, more meaningful futures; and equipped Asia's next generation of leaders with skills to solve the critical issues facing Asia. In these pages, we share inspiring stories that your philanthropy has made possible—each a glimpse of the change you have catalyzed.

LOOKING AHEAD

While we pause to reflect on the positive impacts of the Change Starts Here campaign, the work of The Asia Foundation continues. As geopolitical winds shift, wars rage, citizens endure the after-effects of a global pandemic, and our environment suffers, there is heightened urgency to this work. Working with partners across Asia, The Asia Foundation has a critical role to play in addressing these challenges.

Spanning more than seven decades and 20 countries, the work of The Asia Foundation remains at the forefront of Asia's development because of committed donors like you who take the long view. In the years ahead, the Foundation is poised to accelerate positive change through our deep local presence, hard-won expertise, and trusted partners on the ground. Thank you for being at the very heart of the Change Starts Here campaign.

Expanding opportunities for women and girls

Of the 4,300,000 Cambodian young people, just 5% go to college. And a very small percentage of that number is girls. Poverty is the single most disruptive factor for girls' education in Cambodia. Most often, they drop out to support their families. Without educational avenues to escape poverty, girls are vulnerable to trafficking and forced migration. The Asia Foundation partners with organizations like KAPE. They focus on girls who aren't on track to make it past primary school, with special programs to get workforce ready. These women are now able to land some of the best jobs, competing for jobs once only available to men.

“Going to school wasn’t in the cards for me. My brothers dropped out by Grade 9 because the school was so far away. But I wanted to go to school. When the neighbors saw me going to school, they said it was a waste of time, I should drop out and work in a factory. But by Grade 12, I passed my national exams. Now, I’m a fourth-year college student at Western University, my major is Public Administration.”

—Sao Ma, KAPE Scholar

Let's Read

Reading and thriving without limits

To thrive, kids need books in the languages they speak at home and in school. This is a simple idea but one that isn't being realized for millions of children in Asia, where there are more than 2,300 languages and widespread poverty. Kids become strong readers and critical thinkers who can participate in diverse economies when they have access to books.

WITH YOUR SUPPORT

Let's Read, Asia's only free digital library, has grown rapidly to 16 countries and 51 languages. In just the last year, kids read 3.7 million books on the Let's Read platform.

Six-year-old Bina is a typical Let's Read consumer. She has no access to printed books. Since Bina must often accompany her mother to work rather than attend school, they downloaded the Let's Read app. Now Bina has lots of books to spark her curiosity.

"As a young person, and as a mother, I think a lot about the world that we live in and the world that I would want to pass down to future generations. This is a world that I think is improving, thanks to the work of The Asia Foundation, and will be a better place by the time we are passing it down to the next generation."

—Lin Jamison, Asia Foundation Trustee

THE ASIA FOUNDATION

Agile and responsive in crises

The Foundation's deep partnerships on the ground, local knowledge and networks ensured we could activate effective responses to critical challenges rapidly.

CHALLENGE > > > RESPONSE

When Covid-19 struck, economic stresses, lockdowns, and social isolation led to joblessness, hunger, despair, and a dramatic increase in gender-based violence.

We expanded 24-7 crisis hotlines and shelters to meet the rising needs and established a rapid response fund for women workers and entrepreneurs who suffered a loss of economic security.

CHALLENGE > > > RESPONSE

With the pandemic spreading quickly, thousands of children in Asia were at risk.

We published Covibook and pushed it out widely on our free Let's Read digital library in multiple languages, ensuring kids across the region knew how to wash their hands, mask up, social distance, and how to stay safe in crowded settings.

CHALLENGE > > > RESPONSE

Disinformation on social media fueled violent conflict in diverse communities across Asia.

We supported civil society organizations across South and Southeast Asia in building resilient communities around tolerance, inter-faith and inter-ethnic understanding, and countering hate and extremism.

CHALLENGE > > >

Devastating floods ravaged Timor-Leste in April 2021.

RESPONSE

The Asia Foundation team assembled emergency supplies for distribution to flood- and landslide-affected areas, sending truckloads of food, bedding, temporary shelters, and sanitary materials to more than 500 displaced individuals from 70 families.

CHALLENGE > > > RESPONSE

Many lost jobs and livelihoods due to Covid. New jobs demand digital skills, but much of the workforce lacks them.

We closed the digital gap for 200,000+ micro, small and medium business owners in Southeast Asia, providing digital skills training for workers grappling with the effects of the pandemic.

CHALLENGE > > > RESPONSE

When Afghanistan's government fell to the Taliban in August 2021, our staff and partners in Afghanistan, who had worked to promote women's empowerment and access to education, were at risk.

We secured visas to ensure at-risk staff and families were safe, and we continue to support our partners in Afghanistan as possible.

“It’s almost 35 years ago that I started working in refugee camps, and The Asia Foundation was there beside me all the time working to provide resources for education, the key for success. It is one of the organizations that no matter what system comes and goes, they work. And that is the way we have to do it, because we don’t always agree with a government, but we must help the people.”

—Asia Foundation partner Sakena Yacoobi,
CEO of Afghan Institute of Learning

Leaders for a better world

One Asia Foundation Development Fellow is designing cutting edge green spaces to counter climate change: thoughtfully designed public parks that are creating livable cities and dramatically mitigating flooding and droughts that plague so many places in the world.

Another is working with a social enterprise in the Indian Himalayas developing power plants to generate clean electricity from pine leaves. Another is painstakingly documenting the history of the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia, working directly with survivors of the atrocity to prevent similar crimes from happening in the future. These are the leaders of our future, and over the past decade, the Foundation has nurtured, shaped, and developed 94 future leaders who are now in positions of power addressing the critical issues facing Asia, the most dynamic region in the world. This year we launched LeadNext, a companion program expanding that training to include younger future leaders: 18-25 years olds.

“What I love about The Asia Foundation especially is their LeadEx program—the training, and the support and nurturing of young leaders to bring us a better world.”

“With profound changes transforming geopolitics, the global economic order, and social landscape, nothing is more imperative than preparing a new generation of globally minded leaders to address the most critical issues of our time. I chose to partner with The Asia Foundation to launch LeadNext because they are THE organization equipped to shape extraordinary future leaders of our time.” — Amanda Minami, donor

Bulldozing the digital divide in the wake of covid

Historically, forest land management in Indonesia resulted in conflicts, social injustice, and poverty, as the private sector crowded out indigenous villages. In 2022, we secured access to 25,500 hectares of forests and land for 1,000 women and girls in Indonesia and are supporting their management skills by training them in the forestry permit process, business decision-making, and expanding forest stewardship by developing non-timber forest products and creating eco-tourism villages.

“Women are effective stewards of Indonesia’s forest resources. Our research and experience show when women are meaningfully involved in community forest management—it leads to increased household incomes, more sustainable forest governance, and greater gender equality. Our goal is to significantly enhance the role of women and girls in social forestry and create a scalable model that can be adapted across provinces, and eventually, countries, for equitable and sustainable economic and environmental outcomes.”

—Asia Foundation’s Hana Satriyo

Asia Foundation leaders Margaretha Tri Wahyuningsih, Alam Surya Putra, Hana Satriyo, and Sandra Hamid are overseeing the women’s forestry program in Indonesia.

“The Asia Foundation stands out from other organizations in the depth of its local expertise in addressing Asia’s most pressing challenges. They’ve been doing work on the ground for nearly 70 years, so they know the local landscape. They have built the trust of authorities and governments and have powerful programs to improve lives in Asia.”

—Janet Montag, Asia Foundation Vice Chair of the Board

YOU ARE MAKING AN IMPACT

Go Digital ASEAN provides crucial digital skills to jobseekers like these in the Philippines.

“Small and medium enterprises (SMEs) are the backbone of Southeast Asia’s economy but have been the hardest hit by Covid-19. There is a pressing need to help them recover and rebuild. At Google.org, Google’s philanthropic arm, we are proud to support The Asia Foundation’s Go Digital ASEAN initiative endorsed by the ASEAN Secretariat, highlighting the importance of equipping SMEs from rural areas with relevant digital training and mentoring, along with the online resources they need to navigate the pandemic.”
